For Justin Diem, a strong work ethic and penchant for over-achieving are practically second nature.

“I was selling fishing and ski gear at 12, worked as a ski technician at 14, picked up a second job as a line cook at 15, caddied at a golf club during college, while interning for my professional career and working in residential construction in any free time I had.”

After graduating from college with degrees in both economics and finance, Justin began his career as a mortgage loan officer, specializing in conventional and portfolio financing with transaction experience throughout the West Coast.

“After three years navigating mortgage compliance I had the desire to enter the tangible side of real estate, and the complexities of the commercial landscape were attractive to me.”

Now, working alongside Bob Tuler, Paul Gamberdella, and Gene Deering, Justin focuses his full professional energy on the leasing and sale of commercial property on the South Coast. “This is where I’m meant to be.”
